

VALENTINAS RUDYS

vrudys@fordham.edu; vrudys.com

EDUCATION

Ph.D. in Economics

Fordham University | Bronx, NY

May 2021 (exp)

Research Fields: Computational Macroeconomics, Labor Economics

Teaching Fields: Macroeconomics, Econometrics

MA in Economics

Fordham University | Bronx, NY

May 2018

Double BBA in Economics and Finance, Minor in Mathematics

Texas A&M University-Corpus Christi | Corpus Christi, TX

May 2016

WORKING PAPERS

Stylized Social Security Reforms and Labor Market Frictions (Job Market Paper) [see here]

Abstract: By combining the traditional overlapping generations and search-matching models, I analyze additional labor market channels through which the Social Security reforms affect employed, unemployed and retired agents' behavior and what ramifications it has for the rest of the population. While the results, in general, are in line with models in previous research, I find two distinct labor market channels which magnify the long-term beneficial outcomes of policies encouraging private saving and labor force participation. The negative long-term outcomes of labor force participation and saving disincentivizing policies, such as increased income or capital gains taxation, are also magnified with a more dynamic labor market present. In addition, I find that when workers are perfectly substitutable, increased labor market participation of older workers may be accompanied by higher employment of the young when private saving increases sufficiently, thereby decreasing the interest rate. When a reform incentivizes elderly labor market participation but not private saving, it may have a negative effect on the employment of the young.

Boosting Elderly Employment. Analysis of Hiring and Wage Subsidies [see here]

Hidden Labor Market and Active Labor Market Policies [see here]

CONFERENCE PARTICIPTION

Fordham Graduate Student Conference

Spring 2020

4th International ESS Conference in Mannheim, Germany

Spring 2019

Eastern Economics Association Annual Conference

Spring 2019

New York State Economics Association Annual Conference

Fall 2018

PROFESSIONAL RESEARCH EXPERIENCE

Research Fellow

Fordham University | Bronx, NY

May 2020 - present

Graduate Assistant for Dr. Dominick Salvatore
Fordham University | Bronx, NY

Aug 2016 – May 2018

PROFESSIONAL TEACHING EXPERIENCE

Teaching Fellow
Fordham University | Bronx, NY

Aug 2018 – May 2020

Adjunct Professor
Monroe College | Bronx, NY

Jan 2019 – Aug 2020

Volunteer Adjunct Professor
University of the People | Online

Sep 2018 – Dec 2018

OTHER EXPERIENCE

Expert Witness
Steven Warshawsky Law Firm | New York, NY

Oct 2017 – Feb 2018

SKILLS AND LANGUAGES

Proficient in MATLAB, R, STATA, Tableau, SPSS, Latex, MS Excel
Fluent in English, Lithuanian, Basic Russian

PERSONAL INFORMATION

Permanent US Resident, Lithuanian Citizen

REFERENCES

Professor Johanna Francis
Fordham University
718-817-4048/4055
ajofrancis@fordham.edu

Professor Patricia Gomez Gonzalez
Fordham University
212-636-6937
pgomezgonzalez@fordham.edu

Professor Philip Shaw
Fordham University
718-817-3564
pshaw5@fordham.edu